内容概要

《英语(第5册)(师范院校英语专业用)》教材以师范性为其特点,主要体现在以下两个方面:(一)强调语言基本功的训练。一位理想的英语教师必须具有全面、扎实的基本功,听、说、读、写、译任何一方面技能都不可偏废;同时,他还要有坚实的理论知识,对语言现象,不仅“知其然”,还“知其所以然”。本教材强调学好最基本的东西,宁肯少些,但要好些,学得扎实些。(二)强调教师所应具备的能力的培养。一位英语教师不仅要有扎实的语言基本功,而且还必须懂得如何最有效地把自己的知识技能传授给学生。所以,本教材特别注意培养学生进行语言教学的基本技能,如课文编选能力;词汇、语法等练习的编写能力;选择语言重点的能力;纠误能力;造句能力;改写短文的能力;口头讲述故事的能力等等。

章节摘录

The “ what ” clause is an effective means of lending punch to a sentence and reinforcing a contrast. For example , the following sentence is not particularly forceful : Alfred Nobel hoped to be remembered for his peace prize , not for his invention of dynamite. But if it is transformed with the use of a “ what ” clause , the sentence will become more emphatic , the contrast more striking : What Alfred Nobel hoped to be remembered for was his peace prize , not his invention of dynamite.

attention : The French word attention contains the meaning of “ look out ” , while the English word attention doesn ’ t.

M ’ sieur : the elliptical form of the French word “ monsieur ” , which is used as a form of polite address to a man

Madame : a French word which is used as a form of polite address to a woman

Mademoiselle : a French word which is used as a form of polite address to an unmarried girl or woman

All the three French words Monsieur , Madame and Mademoiselle can be used by themselves without having to go with a surname. But the English words Mr. , Mrs , and Miss can ’ t be used that way.

prisoners of the language : persons confined by the limitations of the language

Can we not begin to imagine how near to despair these people must come who almost never find the word they are hunting for ?
