前言

China Payment System Development Report ( 2006 ) Report is prepared by Payment and Settlement Department of PBC. Report consists of four parts: Part I Overview describes the concept and importance of payment system and briefly reviews development history of China Payment System. Part II Current Development focuses on development of payment systems, promotion of non-cash payment instruments, development of payment service providers and oversight of China payment system. Part III Outlook analyzes the new situation facing and puts forward the overall objectives for payment system development, including expectations for 2007. Part IV Appendix includes a history of major events of China payment system development since 1983 and statistics on key payment services in 2006. Report also includes several boxes that zoom in on certain aspects of China payment system development. Mr. ZHOU Xiaochuan, governor of PBC, specified the objective of releasing Report; Mr. SU Ning, deputy governor, read and approved Report; Mr. YI Gang, assistant governor, provided valuable input. In the process of preparing Report, we also received support from the relevant departments and institutions of PBC, in particular the General Administration Department, Research Bureau and China Financial Publishing House. Experts from Payment and Settlement Research Center of Southwest University of Finance and Economics also contributed to Report, to whom we are grateful. This Report is among the first attempts to systematically analyze payment system development in China. Given the authors' limitations, it is by no means perfect. We welcome suggestions and opinions for us to make improvement in future editions.
