章节摘录

He also seized another opportunity : "At the time when teachers pay and conditions were improving, I often went to Beijing University to collect furniture. Many people were busy moving to new homes at the time, and they disliked their old furniture as they thought it was too awkward, so they did not want it, and some even simply threw it away. Therefore, I often went there to buy something at that time, buying up to 29 items on one occasion. In those years, the people that did not have cultural relics at home could not be called intellectuals." Ma Weidu is very proud of that.
